Personal Profile

After working in a fast paced customer service environment for the past 10 years, I was seeking a change where I would utilise my existing skills and progress in a career where constant change is occurring. The idea of Software Development originated from my intention of creating an online drop shipping store, when I realised, I enjoyed customising my website theme more than anything else.

After going a self-taught route for a while, I enrolled in a self-funded technical training course which later led me to a twelve-week intensive bootcamp, where I completed projects using HTML, CSS, JavaScript, MySQL, MongoDB and Python.

I am currently searching for a Junior Developer opportunity where I could develop as an IT professional and progress within a challenging environment.

Web Technology and Software Development Skills:

HTML5, CSS3, JavaScript, Bootstrap, jQuery, C#, ASP.NET, MySQL, MongoDB, Python, Flask, Pandas

Interests

Computing: Thoroughly enjoy learning, especially new technologies. Long term Windows user with experience in Linux, recently switched to Mac and macOS. Always the first person to be called by family and work colleagues in case of any technical/computer issues.

Hobbies: I enjoy travelling and anything nature related. Passionate animal lover (therefore a vegan) who appreciates good food, and who never says ‘no’ to a quick DIY project.
